

Sophie Moseley for Treasurer

A bit about me

Hi there, my name is Sophie Moseley I am a second-year Politics and International Relations student, and I am running for treasurer. I am a member of the Think Tank and regularly write on our society's journal, the Cortado. As well as the Think Tank I am a co-signatory of the Goodricke college squash team. However, my interests expand beyond journalism and squash as I am also a member of pantomime society and love performing in front of an audience, so I will be confident in promoting our financial interests.

Why am I qualified?

- My previous role as co signatory of Goodricke Squash meant I had financial and leadership responsibilities which I feel gives me valuable experience in reliably handling the society's finances.
- I have good communication skills and will be able to articulate the needs of our societal finances with any interested party.
- I am a proven team player and will be able to accommodate different points of view of how the finances should and could be handled.
- I am punctual and can reply quickly to any questions.
- I am confident in my judgments and will deliver a clear decision on any financial matters.

What I want to achieve

The previous treasurer has taken us from a fledgling group to a fully functioning society which is an incredible feat that I can only build upon. My ideas focus on opening up our finances to our members and local businesses, while also using our resources to encourage membership growth to increase our funds.

- I will listen intently to any proposal raised by our members and will make myself regularly available to hear them.
- I will actively seek out sponsorship deals with local business' which will give us both brand promotion and funds to put on society events.
- I will regularly make funds available for worthwhile charities that we, as a society, decide upon.
